Don't politicize homecoming of Mancao-Palace

By Vivian

MANCAO, Palawan, and its surrounding islands are known for their beautiful beaches, clear waters, and vibrant culture. It is a place where nature's beauty is on full display, and where the people are warm and welcoming.

However, the homecoming of the Mancao-Palace has become a political issue. Some people believe that the palace should be a symbol of peace and unity, while others see it as a source of conflict.

The issue is still being debated, and it is important that we do not let it become a source of division.

COPW WELCOMES STEP TOWARDS TRANSPARENCY

COPW is happy with PSECS Staff's Open Reply to COPW regarding what they claimed were "manipulative statements on the issue." Staff's full page ad in the issue leading newspapers looked issues for which the public has demanded transparency of PSECS they can be properly informed. And their members answered.

The statements and questions of the commission on consumer information in PSECS 75 (BSE) and last magazine sent to COPW can be summed up thus:

"The Oil Companies are quick to raise prices when the cost of oil goes up, but not slow in lowering them when the cost of oil goes down".

Staff has stated that they RECEIVED correct information on inventory and costs in the Department of Energy in compliance with Section 71, 72 up and 73 of the Oil Derogation Law or Republic Act No. 6470.

With this statement of Staff, an oil man expects the BSE to assume the responsibility of informing and ensuring COPW and the general public that proper prices are fair and reasonable.

He also says the BSE is finally issuing a policy statement with regards the Oil Refiners' use of BOPB as pricing benchmark, which Staff wrote as stated in the Staff ad. The public needs to know and understand the effect this will have on pump prices considering that Refiners Petrol and Shell and global suppliers Exxon & Total control virtually 90% of the market.

In this regard, if DOE says that they in fact have enough powers under the present Oil Derogation Law to properly perform their regulatory functions, we will support a call for Congress to repeal the BOPB and make the necessary amendments. We will also ask Congress to make a determination if, especially under a deregulated environment, the use of BOPB is in compliance with the Oil Derogation Law and will be beneficial to the consuming public.

BSE issues DOJ Secretary Best Response to his letter on February 14th requesting COPW to provide factual and legal basis for our allegations that "the BSE and the DOJ over the past 11 years, have been passive in enforcing the stipulated provisions of the Oil Derogation Law".

Secretary Gosses has also issued a memorandum ordering BSE staff, Ray Serrano and BSA Unit. Jose Victor Gosses are the members of the BSE-BSE Unit Force to immediately correct and clarify and investigate possible violations of the Oil Derogation Law.

On April 17, 2006, in a press note, Under Secretary Staff Salgado submitted to Judge Silvio Pompa Jr. of the Manila Regional Trial Court their findings with regards a case filed by the Social Justice Society against "The Big 2" Oil Companies regarding possible violations of RA 6470 as follows:

1. Before a case can be filed in court, there must be an investigation to be conducted by the BSE-BSE Unit Force.
2. There is no evidence showing that the Oil Companies submitted a monopoly or a cartelization in restraint of trade under Sec. 153 and Sec. 154 of RA 6470.
3. There is likewise no evidence that the Oil Companies committed cartelization.

The Social Justice Society has filed a motion questioning the findings of the Unit Force and a hearing has been set at 9:30 am on March 15, 2006. COPW has filed a Motion to Intervene with Judge Silvio Pompa Jr. and will participate in the hearing on behalf of the consumer sector. COPW is optimistic that Judge Pompa will be able to resolve the issue with finally when all parties meet on issue.

COPW reiterates its willingness to sit down with Oil Refiners Staff and Petrol and global suppliers Chevron and Total, apart from the New Players Caltex, Shell, Esso, Unifil, and Repsol Petrolina to compare and reconcile our respective data.

All in the spirit of transparency. And assume public information.

LET YOUR VOICE BE HEARD COPW WANTS YOUR FEEDBACK

We are aware that COPW's members are transparent in their pricing and are providing sufficient information on a transparent environment?

The following table shows the results of the regression analysis for the dependent variable Y (the dependent variable is the same as in the previous table). The independent variables are the same as in the previous table. The results are presented in the following table.

1. The first step is to identify the variables involved in the problem. In this case, the variables are the number of hours worked (H) and the number of hours of sleep (S).

Figure 1. Schematic representation of the experimental design. The subjects were divided into two groups: the control group (CG) and the experimental group (EG). The CG was exposed to a control environment (CE) and the EG was exposed to an experimental environment (EE). The EG was further divided into two subgroups: the EG1 and the EG2. The EG1 was exposed to a control environment (CE) and the EG2 was exposed to an experimental environment (EE). The EG1 and the EG2 were further divided into two subgroups: the EG1.1 and the EG1.2, and the EG2.1 and the EG2.2. The EG1.1 and the EG1.2 were exposed to a control environment (CE) and the EG2.1 and the EG2.2 were exposed to an experimental environment (EE). The EG1.1 and the EG1.2 were further divided into two subgroups: the EG1.1.1 and the EG1.1.2, and the EG1.2.1 and the EG1.2.2. The EG2.1 and the EG2.2 were further divided into two subgroups: the EG2.1.1 and the EG2.1.2, and the EG2.2.1 and the EG2.2.2. The EG1.1.1 and the EG1.1.2 were exposed to a control environment (CE) and the EG1.2.1 and the EG1.2.2 were exposed to an experimental environment (EE). The EG2.1.1 and the EG2.1.2 were exposed to a control environment (CE) and the EG2.2.1 and the EG2.2.2 were exposed to an experimental environment (EE).

The following table shows the results of the regression analysis. The dependent variable is the number of days of absence from work due to illness. The independent variables are age, sex, and years of education. The results show that age has a positive effect on the number of days of absence from work due to illness. Sex has a negative effect, and years of education have a positive effect.

Abstract

Background: The purpose of this study was to determine the prevalence of and risk factors for the presence of urinary tract infections (UTIs) in patients with type 2 diabetes mellitus (T2DM).

Methods: A cross-sectional study was conducted in a tertiary care hospital. A total of 100 patients with T2DM were recruited from the endocrinology clinic. Urine samples were collected and analyzed for the presence of UTIs. Data were collected on demographic and clinical variables, and the prevalence of UTIs was determined. Risk factors for the presence of UTIs were identified using logistic regression analysis.

Results: The prevalence of UTIs in patients with T2DM was 12.0%. The risk factors for the presence of UTIs were female sex, duration of T2DM, and the use of insulin.

Conclusion: The prevalence of UTIs in patients with T2DM is 12.0%. The risk factors for the presence of UTIs are female sex, duration of T2DM, and the use of insulin.

The diagram illustrates the experimental setup for studying the effect of the initial concentration of the polymer solution on the morphology of the polymer film. It shows a cross-section of a polymer film on a substrate. The film is divided into two main regions: a top region labeled 'Polymer solution' and a bottom region labeled 'Substrate'. The top region is further divided into two sub-regions: 'Polymer solution' and 'Polymer solution'. The bottom region is labeled 'Substrate'. The diagram illustrates the process of polymerization and the resulting morphology of the polymer film.

Figure 1 is a 3D bar chart illustrating the distribution of the number of children per woman by country and year. The x-axis represents the number of children (0 to 6), the y-axis represents the percentage of women, and the z-axis represents the year (1990, 2000, 2010). The chart shows a general trend of decreasing fertility rates over time across all three countries.

PDEA asset's allegations 'malicious'

Taguig mayor, police chief say drug problem being addressed

By Manila Bureau

Taguig Mayor Alvin Patrimonio and Police Chief Romeo Tringon said they are addressing the drug problem in the city, despite allegations from a PDEA asset that the city is a haven for drug dealers.

Patrimonio said the city government is working closely with the police to identify and dismantle drug networks. He added that the city has implemented various measures to reduce drug consumption and distribution.

Tringon also stated that the police are actively monitoring the situation and are ready to take action against anyone involved in drug-related activities. He emphasized that the police are committed to maintaining law and order in the city.

The allegations from the PDEA asset came in the form of a letterhead memorandum (LHM) dated May 11, 2011, which was received by the PDEA. The LHM claimed that Taguig is a major hub for drug trafficking and that the city government is aware of this but is doing nothing to stop it.

Patrimonio and Tringon both denied the allegations, stating that they are taking all necessary steps to combat the drug problem. They also mentioned that they have received support from the national government and other law enforcement agencies in their efforts.

Woman gets life for illegal recruitment

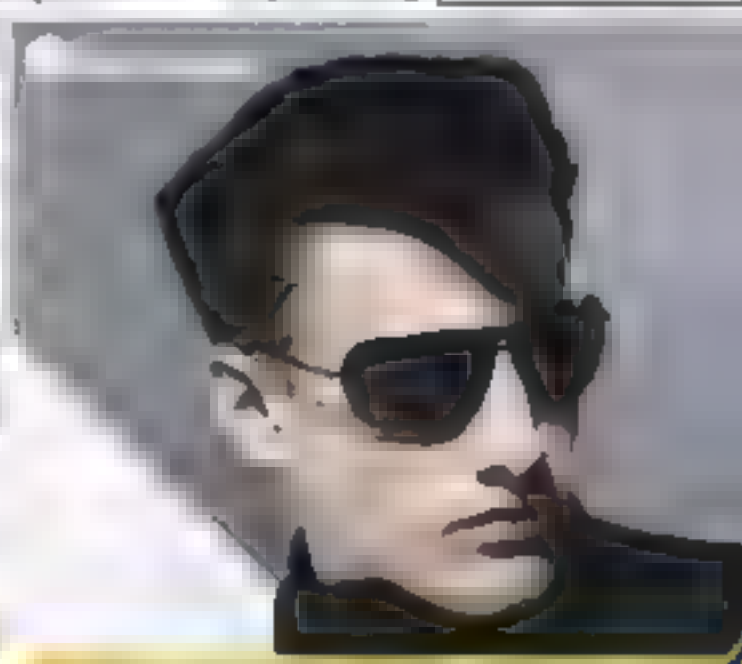

By Manila Bureau

A woman was sentenced to life imprisonment for illegal recruitment after being found guilty of recruiting workers for a foreign company without the necessary permits.

The woman, who is 45 years old, was arrested by police officers during a raid on her office. She was charged with violating the Labor Code of the Philippines, which prohibits unauthorized recruitment activities.

The court found her guilty of the charges and sentenced her to life imprisonment. She will also be fined for the illegal recruitment. The court also ordered the confiscation of all documents and materials related to her recruitment activities.

The woman's lawyer said that his client is appealing the sentence. He argued that his client was not aware of the legal requirements for recruitment and that she was only trying to help people find work.

Figure 1 is a schematic representation of the experimental design. It is divided into two main sections: 'Pretest' and 'Main Experiment'. The 'Pretest' section includes 'Pretest 1' and 'Pretest 2', both showing a flow from 'Stimulus' to 'Response' under different conditions. The 'Main Experiment' section includes 'Main Experiment 1' and 'Main Experiment 2', also showing a flow from 'Stimulus' to 'Response' under different conditions. The diagrams use boxes to represent stimuli and responses, and arrows to show the flow of information. Factors like 'Condition' and 'Stimulus' are indicated by labels within the diagrams.
